What's Up with Craig Sanchez (7)

Craig, a native of Big Bear Lake, CA, first moved to Park City in 1978. He spent a few years back in the Bay Area but returned to Park City in 1989 and has lived and worked here since.

Like many before him, Craig moved here to live the ski bum life. "I did it well," he said. "As many people experience, spring came...then summer and I stayed. I have traveled and skied most of the Western United States and to this day, have not found anywhere that has the diversity of mountains, the friendliness of the people and the year around climate for enjoying different outdoor activities."

He was motivated to first apply for Leadership Park City because, as a city employee, he had known and worked with program Director, Myles Rademan. "I was very impressed with what this program was providing and the first few years the participants were virtually a 'who's who' of Park City. As a manager for the city I felt it was critical for me to develop my leadership skills and having such a quality program at my front door was thrilling. Of course, I did have to apply three times before I was accepted into Class VII."

Craig has been managing the Park City Golf Course for 16 years. "I am excited every day I come to work. (Well, most days.) I have a great dedicated staff and enjoy interacting with our customers." This year Craig took on a new role of Community Engagement Liaison. "My primary role is being the liaison between the Main Street merchants and the construction crews as the city replaces infrastructure and renovates the sidewalks. The change in duties for the city has been very refreshing."

When Craig has the time, he and wife, Kathy, like to spend time in southern Utah, primarily Moab because of the great combination of outdoor activities. "I still love to ski and hope to continue that passion forever. I got into road biking a couple of years ago. Kathy and I took sailing lessons this year and I have a feeling this could be a new adventure." Craig is a golfer but doesn't seem to play as much now that he works at the course and he loves listening to music and thinks Park City is a great place for that.

Any of you who are regular attendees of the annual Park City Follies may have noticed Craig in the cast of the last production as well as four previous shows. "The writers and the cast are incredibly talented. We laugh during the two weeks of rehearsal and love making fun of all that is Park City. I would encourage anyone to get involved with this group. It is WAY fun!"

Craig's 'look forward to list' includes traveling with Kathy, skiing powder days, going to Utes football and basketball games and tailgating with his son, the changing seasons along with good beer and aged whiskey.

Thanks, Craig for coming forward to help get LPCA started and continuing to support us by being on our Advisory Board and Class Liaison!

Our Year: Class 7; 2000-2001

Our Project: Ours was a short day project but it continues to bloom. We planted all the trees around the City Park softball field. We secured funding and got Maria from the city to help in what and where to plant.

We had noticed that some past projects were excitedly put together and then forgotten about once they were completed. As a group we wanted to do something that would help to make one of town's favorite gathering places more comfortable. We also had interest in putting something together that would last through not only our class but for generations of Parkites.

Our City Tour: We started out trip in Durango, Colorado. Durango had just gone through a major redevelopment of their Historic Downtown area. They did a great job of creating the new with the old. They had also just completed a new recreation center that was very impressive. The Young Dubliners were playing at the local saloon so it was kind of a memorable evening, but of course, many had foggy memories of the evening.

We then took the incredibly scenic route up through Silverton, a historic mining town at an altitude of about 10,000 feet. After lunching there, we continued on through to Ouray (hot baths) on our way to Telluride. Here, the main topics we discussed included affordable housing, events, and seasonal attractions. This is a very unique town with Telluride serving as the hub and main shopping district and then the town of Mountain Village which is about at mid-mountain of the ski area. Most of the new high-end development was occurring in Mountain Village. Telluride was having a very difficult time getting employees as the town is fairly isolated.

Then.....What we did during our year.....As with most groups, it was exciting to meet and to learn from other members of our community. It was an exciting year as we were all preparing to host the 2002 Winter
